ROUND MOUNTAIN MINING
MAY TAKE THE FAIRVIEW
 Happenings of the Week in the Hydraulic Camp--Bonanza Thanked for Publicity of Celebration.

(By Special Correspondence.)
 In pursuance with the orders of Reece Wampler, president of the Fairview, the latter mine will shut down on Monday and no date is given for the resumption of work. It is thought, however, that when the mine is again worked it will be under the direction of the Round Mountain Mining company, and while the officials of the latter company maintain a deep silence regarding the matter, yet it is current talk that the Fairview has passed into new hands. The truth of the rumor is borne out by the fact that some time ago representatives of the Round Mountain Mining company made an examination of the Fairview and survey maps were made of the workings. The Fairview mill will close on Wednesday.

The Farrell-Gibson-McVeigh lease commenced to ship ore on Monday and about sixty tons will be run over the plates. Both Farrell and McVeigh, former Tonopah men, are excellent miners and it is expected that they will during the next few months take out a good big tonnage.

Harry Hillhouse, the engineer who installed the compressed air system in Cobalt, has returned to camp and is busily engaged in looking after his various interests throughout this and adjoining districts.

At a meeting of the committee on sports for the Fourth of July celebration a vote of thanks was voted to the Bonanza for its courtesy in giving publicity to the event. While Tonopah is going to have a celebration, the Bonanza, with its usual big heartedness, took pains to give the northern camp a boost and the boys are grateful.

The boxing contest arranged for the Fourth between George Abernathy and H. Hillhouse promises to be replete with scientific boxing and as both of the men are in excellent trim a good contest is expected.

The preliminary will be between Fred Byrne and Denny O'Meara and as both contestants have many victories to their credit as amateur boxers the "go" should be one worth going miles to see.
 B. C. Downing, president of the Shoshone Milling company, has left for New York where he will spend several months looking after business interests. During his absence Charles Rice, the well known millman will be in charge of the affairs of the company.
 The Kieley lease on the Antelope has passed the prospect stage and it is expected that from the first of the month on that those in charge will be taking out the high grade for which the claim is noted.

DIVIDEND NOTICE.
